DETAILED ACTION

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 3,4,8,10,12,13,17-19,21,22,24,27-29 and 31-44 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-32 of U.S. Patent No. 6,625,634. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 1-30 are clearly anticipated by the claims 1-32 of U.S. Patent No. 6,625,634.

3. Claim 37 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The recitation "using the second instruction to determine if an overflow occurs" in indefinite as to what the "second instruction" is. Further, "the second instruction lack an antecedent basis.

Art Unit: 2193

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 13, 36-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shiell (6,408,321).

As per claims 36 and 38, Shiell disclose in figures 1 and 2 an execution of a instruction (figure 2), and outputting signals (Co, see figure 2) to indicate carry conditions for respective sets of operand if additions/subtractions of the respective sets of operand cause a carry/borrow condition. Thus, the instruction can be seen as a generate carry instruction as claimed.

As per claim 37, Shiell also discloses an overflow handling (col. 6, lines 10-25).

As per claim 13, Shiell also disclose in figure 2, carry generations are performed in parallel with sum generations.

Art Unit: 2193

7. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shiell (6,408,321).

It is noted that Shiell does not disclose a very long instruction word packet. However, since the inclusion of instructions into a very long instruction word packet is well-known, a person of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to include the instruction of Shiell in a very long instruction word packet in order to process instructions more efficiently.

8. Claims 13,36-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lin et al. (5,959,874).

As per claims 36 and 38, Lin et al. discloses in figures 6 and 8 an execution of a instruction (figure 6), and outputting signals (808, see figure 8) to indicate carry conditions for respective sets of operand if additions/subtractions of the respective sets of operand cause a carry/borrow condition. Thus, the instruction can be seen as a generate carry instruction as claimed.

As per claim 37, Lin et al. also discloses an overflow handling (col. 8, lines 44-55).

As per claim 13, Lin et al. also disclose in figure 8, carry generations are performed in parallel with sum generations.

9. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lin et al. (5,959,874).

It is noted that Lin et al. does not disclose a very long instruction word packet. However, since the inclusion of instructions into a very long instruction word packet is well-known, a person of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to include the instruction of Lin et al. in a very long instruction word packet in order to process instructions more efficiently.

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 12,13 and 36-38 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

12. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

13. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Chuong D. Ngo whose telephone number is (571) 272-3731. The examiner can normally be reached on Tuesday-Friday.
